The draft Land Use Plan was submitted to the Provincial and Nunatsiavut Governments in early August. Both governments have responded. The Regional Planning Authority will be reviewing the comments in the New Year. Once the review is completed, a revised Plan will be submitted to the two governments for adoption in principle. When the adoption is received, a Commissioner will be appointed to hear comments on the revised Plan. The schedule for the public hearings and copies of the revised draft Plan will be available on this website when they become available.

Problems with downloading the Plan on the website have resulted in the documents being reloaded onto the website. Sorry for any inconvenience this may have caused.
